Key Messages EPA's Proposed Cleanup Plan for Portland Harbor

1. This is the right plan, at the right time, for Portland Harbor and the surrounding communities.
2. We feel our plan strikes the right balance of removal, capping and natural recovery to protect people and the environment for the next century and beyond.
3. This proposed plan provides the certainty and clear direction sought by many in local government, industry and all who do business on the banks of the lower Willamette River.
4. By focusing our energy – from the start - on cleaning the worst toxic contaminant “hot spots” first and relying on natural processes for recovery elsewhere, we can minimize our work “footprint” and minimize disruption to the community.
5. We want to hear what all Portlanders think of this plan and offer it to everyone to review. Please carefully consider the proposed plan, attend one (or more) of our Public Meetings and share your thoughts and comments to help us make it stronger.
